GROWTH and EXPANSION

From the dilapidated classrooms of Bosshart Hall, with its broken equipment and beat up floors, to the brand new Science Hall filled with new technologies, superb labs, and an awesome planetarium, Rowan students have endured classes in the exciting field of science.

On Tuesday September 2, Rowan University celebrated the dedication of the campus's newest facility, Science Hall. The many months of sitting in classrooms and trying to hear lectures over the construction noise and walking longer paths across campus are now over. The path is back between Bosshart and Savitz. The noise is finally gone.

Science Hall is a forty five million dollar facility that is 149, 100 square feet big. There are six levels, which include a rooftop observatory containing a 16-inch telescope. No longer do students have to wait to see the stars. With the new Planetarium, under a 40 ft dome, which seats 102, the stars come to them.

Science Hall is a friendly and lively new addition to the Rowan campus. There are many student lounges, computer labs, and the latest in technology available to the students. Science Hall is a step in the right direction for Rowan's growth and expansion.

Dawn O'Neill

Focusing on the sciences during the dedication tour, President Farish (above) receives a honorary science lab coat.

A new angle on the technological advances of the new Science Hall.

On Saturday, November 1st, 2003, the Rowan University family, past, present and possibly future, came together to celebrate Rowan's Homecoming. Homecoming festivities had been occurring all week, beginning with the annual Delta Sigma Theta Cook Off on Tuesday the 28th. Wednesday night, at the conclusion of a spectacular pageant, David Lee and Jamie Ginn were crowned this year's Homecoming King and Queen.

But it wasn't until Friday night that the heart of Homecoming began beating in the Rowan community! At 8pm, Rowan's organizations began the construction process of their beautiful floats that they will show off in the next morning's parade. The many Greek organizations as well as other groups paired up and built amazing floats in a single night as well as organized skits and dance routines to go along with their creations. Around 10am on Saturday morning, the parade began to work its way to "D Lot" for the judging and performances. The parade is a must see Homecoming weekend! The game followed the parade and with a triumphant victory the PROFS stole the game beating Kean College, 32 to 19! At half time the winners of the parade were announced...Congratulations to Alpha Chi Rho and Alpha Sigma Alpha! Another wonderful Homecoming here at Rowan University!

As the hot, fun-filled days of summer slowly came to an end, Rowan students began their arduous journey onto campus once again. Every year begins the same way. Residents pack up their belongings and move back into the dorms, while commuters prepare for the many long drives they are about to endure.

As the year begins, students come back onto campus and into overcrowded dorms to embrace a new community full of old friends and new. A vibrant community of students from all walks of life roam the halls and buildings of Rowan. It is this sense of community that makes Rowan a truly exceptional school to attend.

Any true Rowanite will know the place to relax is in the Pit or that the best cup of coffee can be found at the new Jazzman's Cafe. But most of all, any true Rowanite will tell you to avoid the cafeteria and head straight downstairs to grab a bite to eat. Whether you are taking a break in between classes or hitting the Student Center for lunch, students will always be surrounded by Rowan's truly relaxing and fun filled sense of community.

As we welcome this year's Freshman class and say good-bye to this year's Senior class, the warm sense of Rowan's community will echo in the hearts and minds of every Rowan student. Rowan is not losing members of their community as the Class of 2004 walks down the ivy way. They are in turn, adding to the alumni community that keeps Rowan University alive. And without those incoming Freshmen, the community would not grow and prosper. It is those new shining faces that make Rowan . . . well, Rowan!

CAMPUS

Campus Life

A class of smiling faces to start the day off right!

One of our Rowan boys, (right-top), is hanging on tight as he climbs that rock wall.

Number 30 knows the way to have fun this beautiful day.

Rowan girls are all smiles while on this beautiful campus!

By skateboard or foot, these boys, (left), have to get to class.

Break-it-down now. Everyone get on your feet and dance! (bottom)

Time to experiment in the lab.

Campus Life

There is always time to study at the Campbell Library. (right)

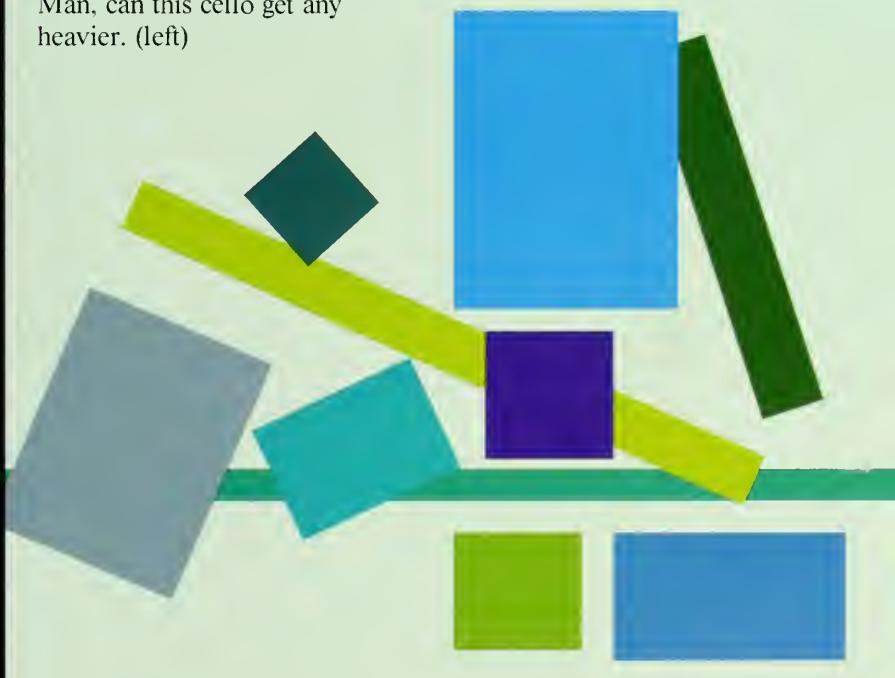

Cooking out is lots of fun!

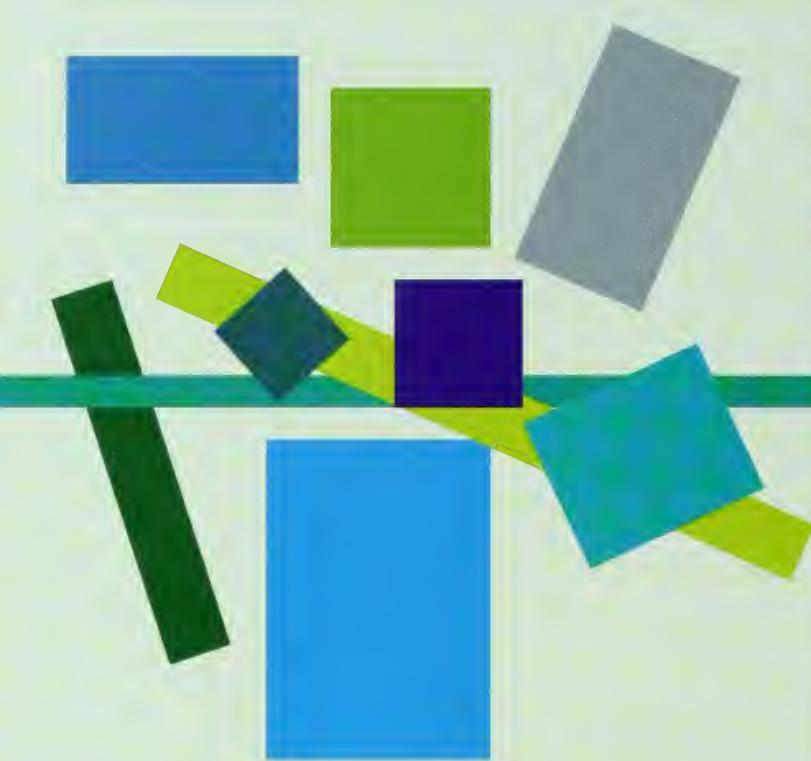

There always time for a quick workout in the gym.

Freshmen (left) discuss music and school on their walk towards the Student Center. Members of Rowan's step team, Blue Ice (below), show the school their moves on a nice day on the patio. There's always time for a latte and a cell phone break on this campus! (right) Of course we have to study too! (below, bottom)

To The Class of 2004,

I can't believe it's time to bid this great institution farewell after four, five, or six years of the Rowan Experience. Looking back at my freshmen year, I can definitely say that I have personally gained so much from this great institution and I know that I'm not the only one that feels this way.

As I thought of what to write to my fellow class members, the topic that keeps coming to mind is "determination." As we leave this university, let us remember that our journey has just started. Some of us might decide to join the Peace Corps, get into the corporate world, some might just decide to take a year or two off and travel. Whatever we decide to do, let us remember that in order to achieve our goals we need to be determined to be successful. As a class, it can definitely be inferred that we are all determined because without determination and the zeal to achieve our goals of attaining a college education, graduation will be nothing but a dream. Calvin Coolidge once said, "Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not; unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent." No matter the situation we find ourselves in after graduation, let us remember that our goals are attainable as long as we are determined and ready to make some sacrifices. If you plan on being the best teacher, graduate student, accountant or volunteer after graduation, this goal is definitely attained, as long as you don't give up.

Oludolapo
Babajide

Finally, all these said, my final charge to the senior class is to remember that we did not get to this point in our lives alone. Let us remember to give back to our community and most importantly the Rowan community. It's time to stop being self absorbed and realize that it's time we start stretching out our arms to someone in need, someone hoping to celebrate this great achievement that we are celebrating as a class, and basically just taking the time out to "serve." In the words of Martin Luther King, "Everybody can be great...because anybody can serve. You don't have to have a college degree to serve. You don't have to make your subject and verb agree to serve. You only need a heart full of grace. A soul generated by love." If we determine in our hearts to serve, we can do it!

I wish every graduating senior much success and a life filled with happiness! Congratulations on this great accomplishment!

CLASS OF 2004 PRESIDENT

Rowan University is proud to present the graduating class of 2004!

As we step foot onto the grass in front of Bunce Hall and begin our march down the ivy way, we must look back upon all the hardwork we have done to reach our ultimate goal; graduation day. Now we must move forward in our lives and believe in the future, that which we have worked so long to prepare for.

Pause for a moment. Remember your times here at Rowan. Now turn your tassel and toss your cap into the air and say goodbye to college and hello to your future.

No matter how many games are won or lost during the year for our sports teams, in the eyes of the students and alumni every team member is a champion. Being able to manage a full load of classes, a job, homework, practices, games, etc. . . and still being able to find time for friends, family, and a little bit of relaxation is a superior quality that makes Rowan's athletic team members champions.

Rowan girls (left) attempt to keep control of the ball.

All of Rowan's seventy-five sanctioned student clubs and organizations believe in fostering friendship and service on and off the campus. What better way to make a difference in the community and make new friends while doing it than through student membership? Students of all ages and interest are bound to find their niche with in the warm welcomes of Rowan's many sororities, fraternities, clubs and organizations. However, if there is no club that suits your needs, then students can always apply to start their own organization here at Rowan.

In this day and age, teachers and support staff are often overlooked, underrated, and taken for granted. Students would not be where they are today without the education they earned, in the schools they attended, taught by the teachers who cared enough to spend their lives learning how to teach. It is the support staff that makes each student's educational experiences a smoother one.

As members of the Class of 2004, we here at Image would like to leave the faculty and staff with this thought:

If not for the wisdom bestowed upon us by you, then we as people, not students, would be empty vessels floating in the wrong direction.

Rowan University believes in providing many opportunities to its students as possible. Our branch campus, the Camden Campus, is just one way Rowan does this for Camden residents and interested persons in surrounding areas. Among the many opportunities students will encounter on the Camden campus are the ability to take general education courses and complete a full degree program in sociology, elementary education, and law and justice studies. In collaboration with Rutgers University-Camden and Camden County College, other support services and a number of cross-registration opportunities are available to students. The five-story facility is located at Broadway and Cooper Street, features 40 classrooms, a community room, childcare facilities, students and faculty lounges, and several computer labs. Students can utilize the library and recreational facilities at Rutgers University-Camden and take part in computer-assisted instruction during day and evening classes.

In the spirit of trying to provide its students with as many opportunities as possible, Rowan University announced on April 21, 2003, its plans to construct a new facility in the University District of Camden that will provide more educational opportunities of the city. "Rowan is excited about and committed to the revitalization of this city and pleased to be a part of expending the higher education opportunities for residents of Camden and beyond, " said, Rowan President Dr. Donald Farish.

President's Office

5 February, 2004

Dear Member of the Class of 2004:

It is, of course, impossible to capture all of your memories of your years at Rowan in a single yearbook, but Image always seems to come close to that ideal—and each year it's better than the year before. With almost 10,000 students and 1500 employees, Rowan is a big place—but somehow Image makes us a manageable, even an intimate, place. I'm delighted that you will have this slim volume to stimulate your recollections of your life at Rowan as the years go by.

I'm sure you are viewing the future with mixed emotions—but I expect you had those same mixed emotions when you first came to Rowan. Contemplating the future can be both exciting and terrifying, as you leave behind the security that comes from living in the familiar surroundings of our campus. However, I can assure you from years of past experience with other graduating classes that you are very well prepared to meet that future, because of the efforts of our dedicated faculty and staff, and because of your own efforts to obtain a first-class education. A Rowan degree has real value in the marketplace because of the success of our past graduates. Your experience, I am certain, will be no different.

In addition, please remember that your membership in the Rowan family is not canceled merely because you have graduated. Our award-winning alumni magazine will make it a simple matter to stay in touch with the campus, and it comes to you free, three times a year. As an alum, we also encourage you to visit the campus as often as your schedule permits. I hope you will take advantage of that invitation to see how the campus is changing (and how, in important ways, it is staying exactly the same).

So this is not goodbye, but au revoir. Graduates, I wish you much success and great happiness, and I and my colleagues on campus look forward to seeing and hearing from you in the years to come.

Sincerely yours,

Donald J. Farish
President

2003!

yearbook (noun): A documentary, memorial, or historical book published every year, containing information about the previous year.

Your college yearbook is the one book that you will actually cherish and hold on to for the rest of your life. Not like the many text books you've spent thousands of dollars on over the past few years (only to make a whopping 10% back, during "text book buy backs" if you were lucky)!

I have, to the best of my ability and with help from my staff, attempted to capture those special moments over this past school year, with the hopes that some day you will look back through this book and say, "Wow, I remember when that happened!"

After meeting several times to fixate a budget to produce the best yearbook that we could, we have finally published this finished product. A lot of time and effort has been put into creating this piece of history for you, and we hope that you enjoy it!

The Theme of the 2004 Image Yearbook, here at Rowan University is "Believe In...". As seen throughout the book on the section divider pages, we asked, that as a proud student of Rowan University, you "Believe In...Champions" when it comes to sports, "Believe In...Wisdom" that our professors contain, and "Believe In...the Future" of the graduating class. You are about to embark on the journey of a lifetime... the REAL WORLD. And as an undergraduate I believe in you to take what you've learned here, and apply yourselves.

Most importantly, to the Graduates of 2004, Believe In..Yourselves. You are now college graduates with a degree to do whatever it is you set your mind to! Congratulations and Good luck Class of 2004!

U.S. troops in Iraq

The biggest news event of 2003 was unquestionably President Bush's decision to employ American armed forces to oust Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein. The regime was toppled quickly, forcing Hussein and top members of his Baath political party into hiding. After an exhaustive manhunt, U.S. forces captured Hussein in a small underground hiding area on the banks of the Tigris River.

an epic conclusion

In 2003, the one film at the top of everyone's must-see list was The Return of the King. In the final chapter of The Lord of the Rings trilogy, Frodo (Elijah Wood) journeys to Mount Doom to dispose of a very dangerous piece of jewelry. Meanwhile, Aragorn (Viggo Mortensen) and Gandalf (Ian McKellen) lead humanity in one last stand against Sauron's massive army of Orcs and airplane-sized elephants. Will the One Ring be destroyed? Will humanity survive? Will director Peter Jackson finally get a Best Picture Oscar® for his amazing work? All of Middle Earth wants to know....

workin' it at the VMAs

As always, the MTV Video Music Awards provided many of the year's most memorable music moments. Coldplay got accolades for Breakthrough Video, '80s popsters Duran Duran won an award for Lifetime Achievement, Justin got the nod for Male Performer of the Year, and Missy strode off with the coveted Video of the Year award for "Work It." To top it all off, the King of Pop saw some of his biggest hits covered with extreme vehemence by Lars and the gents from Metallica.

TRENDS

to swap or not to swap

With the launch of Napster V2.0 and the new iTunes music store, the Internet continued to reshape the way we listen to music in 2003. But not all was rosy on the World Wide Web. Fearing that online music swapping was eroding profits, the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) tried to curb unlicensed music downloads by supporting litigation against alleged copyright violators.

the future is digital

The march toward the digitalization of everything continued in 2003. Music fans embraced ones and zeros, downloading MP3s from iTunes and other new sites. Digital cameras became more affordable and more powerful, while cell phones integrated a host of functions, from MP3 playback to digital photography to video games. Even the family pet got in on the digital act, as Sony unveiled the newest version of its AIBO robotic pooch.

Fear factor

a little too real

Impossible to believe but true—2003 saw even more reality shows on TV than the year before. It seemed every person on the planet was being followed by a camera crew, from those searching for love (The Bachelor, The Bachelorette, For Love or Money, Average Joe, Joe Millionaire) to those seeking adventure (Fear Factor, Survivor, Road Rules, Beg, Borrow and Deal) to those looking for a sixteenth minute of fame (The Surreal Life). Of course, the show that started the craze, The Real World, was still going strong on MTV. Just promise us, please, no more Puck.
